

This is an outrage....your telling me that my payed for service is now going to be dictated by the public (non-paying) customers?!?! So why not go ahead and remove all soft core porn from Cinemax and HBO because the public stations aren't allowed to show these programs!!! HELL, why don't we go ahead and add the commercials back in to satellite radio while we're at it! I'm sure there are advetisers that are upset that XM and Sirius play commercial free music right????

Come on guys get a clue. If I'm paying extra for my service (when I can get it for free) then I expect it to be better than the free offering. XM radio provides me with a pay for listening service and by doing so should be able to offer to it's customers what it believes is a quality offering for the price. Including local traffic and weather. And what about those with family in other states? It's nice to be able to keep track of a bad storm, or tornado watch if it's in an area that might affect a loved one. As far as I'm concerned this is news, just like CNN or MSNBC. If you're going to take away the local traffic and weather then you MUST add the commercials back in and you MUST remove CNBC, CNN and MSNBC right? If not then you're being a hypocrit.
